

Help Manage Fire Ants

Fire ant bait
treatment

Fire ants are a fact of life in Louisiana, and LSU AgCenter experts say the neighborhood approach to controlling fire ants works best.

The key is to distribute a fire ant control product over a large area to ensure that new colonies don't move right back.

Spring and fall, when ants are looking for food, are the best times to get rid of them.

When whole neighborhoods treat twice a year, fire ant populations can be significantly reduced.
